Peter Scott

In 1878 Peter Scott founded the company which today remains one of the oldest Scottish Knitwear manufacturers in operation. Recently acquired by Gloverall PLC the company has focussed on the pure quality and heritage of a Scottish produced core product range and a new Autumn / Winter 2011 range.

From the 19th century through to the 21st the company has followed the founder's ideal of combining the best natural fibres available with the hand skills of the experienced staff, passed down through generations, together with the latest technological advances in machinery in house, to produce the finest knitwear, made in Scotland.

From their recently updated and realigned Hawick based factory, Peter Scott have produced a core collection of Cashmere, Lambswool and Merino products for both mens and ladies, all available for immediate delivery from stock service. The full embroidery design and logo service also remains in place to offer
